

Danielle Nicole Bienvenu

Singer-Songwriter

Danielle Nicole is an Acoustic-Folk-Indie-Coffee House-Americana singer and songwriter. She is also a sixteen time professional author, poet, photographer, advocate, and motivational speaker. After years of professional modeling and acting, she traveled around the world; living in Europe and volunteering with non-profit orgs from Asia to Native American tribes. Music has always been part of her make-up. At six years old she began writing lyrics but it wasn't until much later that she took up guitar. In keeping with her determined nature, she taught herself after she suffered an injury performing in her Oxford dance company. The song bird's tunes are reminisce of Jewel and other indie singer-songwriters like Schuyler Fisk, JJ Heller, Orla Gartland, and Rachael Yamagata. Danielle Nicole, who is legally known by her full name, Danielle Nicole Bienvenu, Lady Estons, currently performs at local coffee houses and is working on her demo CD in studio: Aviator. Her demo is inspired by her travels and reveals a bold tenacity. Bare truths are found in her lyrics. At times her lyrics appear sensual and vulnerable and at others she is nothing short of fierce in matters of love and life. Her raw siren sound appeals to men and women alike. She plans for her next CD to showcase her Christian music.
